About the Delaware County Symphony:

The Delaware County Symphony (DCS) is a community orchestra that is dedicated to providing outstanding musical experiences for residents of the Delaware County area. The DCS was established in 1971, when the orchestra changed its name from the Media Community Symphony. In 1975, the DCS merged with the Springfield Sinfonietta, and Roman Pawlowski was selected as the music director of this combined group the following year. The DCS operated under the sponsorship of the Delaware County Community College until 1987, when the DCS moved to the Life Center at Neumann College (now Neumann University) in Aston, Pa. With this move, the orchestra gained a larger auditorium and stage, an equipment storage room, and auxiliary meeting and reception facilities.

Mr. Pawlowski retired in 2010, and was succeeded by Jeremy Gill. In 2013, Dr. Gill relocated to Boston and Tim Ribchester served as interim music director. In 2016, Joseph Caminiti was selected as the new music director of the DCS.

The DCS was incorporated as a non-profit corporation in 1988. It is governed by a Board of Directors whose members are elected from individuals both within and outside of the symphony orchestra.

About Canine Partners for Life:

For 30 years, Canine Partners for Life (CPL) has been dedicated to training service dogs, home companion dogs, residential companion dogs, and courthouse companion dogs to assist individuals who have a wide range of physical, developmental, and cognitive disabilities.

CPL was founded in 1989 by Darlene Sullivan. The organization flourished and in 1996, CPL purchased and moved to a 45-acre property in Cochranville, PA. Today, the property includes The Marian S. Ware Program Services Center, a state of the art kennel, and a training center.

Canine Partners for Life is a recognized and highly respected leader in the assistance dog industry. It was one of the first service dog organizations in the world to be accredited by Assistance Dogs International (ADI) and continually meets the highest standards in the industry. CPL has placed more than 750 service and companion dogs nationwide and provides support to over 200 active teams and 50–70 service dogs in training
